Just A Note

I KNOW I'VE PROBABLY

said this in every issue, but time really does fly. Here we are into May – still not quite on schedule with the Digest but we're catching up a bit at a time. Let me make it clear that it has nothing to do with Kay being late, this is all about Ken trying to catch up, and I apologize to all of you. I'm working hard to catch up this year and hopefully bring you more things to laugh about and also keep up with more inspirational stories and quotes.

Right now I have a couple of things I'd like to discuss with you. One is that I am so blessed to know many of you personally and so I consider many of you old friends. I'm blown away many times when discussing our personal lives and the things you have achieved over the years. It amazes me that so many of you have so much to offer to our society in general, and I sometimes sit at my desk and think how I wish I could bottle all that knowledge up and pass it on to others who haven't had all of these learning experiences. I only hope that you also realize how valuable you are to your families, friends and neighbors.

I for one have learned so much from our conversations which has been invaluable to me so many times when I've been faced with a problem. I hope more of you will begin to understand how valuable the positive side of your life is to others as well as yourself.

I had a conversation with someone the other day who knows I call myself 'older but not old,' so they, being younger, asked me why I continue on in the business world. I reminded them that besides the fact that I like to put food on the table – because I enjoy good food – I also let them know I love the challenge; it never gets old or tiresome. Each of us are different and I feel I was put here with the goal of bringing some good to others through my work and writing. Many of you know I spent a good portion of my life as a broadcaster, and when I look back there are things I wish I would've done, but every day I knew I was where I should be and I loved it.

I'd like to add that no matter what you're doing, you can make a difference with your work ethics and your attitude. We need to pass the word continued on page 4

What's In A Name?

by Susan Glenn Caddell, DDS

This is an article I wrote and was published in a local newspaper April 11, 1987. Since there might be some June brides out there, I thought it was still applicable.

I'M GOING TO VEER from the normal dental chatter this time. Since I last communicated to you through my column, I have had a major event in my life. I got married on Valentine's Day of this year. I had a wonderful time planning the wedding, the day itself went off well, and the honeymoon cruise down the Mexican Riviera was fabulous. Now I'm back down to earth and having to face a rude awakening.

Many of my dental school classmates have married since graduation. But ninety percent of them were male and they did not have to change their name. They didn't have to change anything except maybe the beneficiary of their insurance policy or their will, if they had one (dental students don't own very much).

I have been Susan Diane Glenn for 28 years and Susan D. Glenn, D.D.S. for five years. After 33 years it is difficult to call yourself by another name – Susan Glenn Caddell, D.D.S. It sounds funny to my ears.

When I got married I had a few alternatives to consider. First, I could leave my name the same. But I am of the old school that believes when you marry a man you take his name (as well as his money). Also, if I stayed Glenn, my future children would have a different name than I and I didn't like that arrangement. Besides, there was already one Dr. Glenn in the dental practice and he got there first... my dad, Dr. Eugene Glenn. I could hyphenate my last name and become Susan D. Glenn-Caddell, D.D.S. But that would be expensive to have a name tag printed when they charge by the letter. My last and best alternative was to change my name to Dr. Susan Glenn Caddell and just write out my middle name for a while.

Making Her Point

A lady was walking down the street when she was approached by a beggarwoman asking for money. The lady took a $20 bill out of her purse, and said, "If I give you this money, will you spend it on chocolate?" "Don't be ridiculous," the beggar replied. "Does it look like I have nothing better to spend money on?" "How about shopping?" she asked. "No," the beggar said, "don't you understand – I need money just to stay alive." "Will you spend it on your hair?" the lady asked. Annoyed, the beggar replied, "No, I just need money for food and shelter. "In that case," the lady said, "I don't want to just give you money. I'd like you to eat out with me and my husband tonight." "Why?" the beggar asked. "Well," replied the lady, "I think it's important for him to see what a woman looks like after she gives up chocolate, shopping, and hair appointments."

~ The Breakdown ~

Two friends arranged to meet at a store in the local mall. One never showed up, so the other went home. When they got together that night, the second woman asked the first what had happened. "It was terrible," the first woman said. "I was on the escalator on my way to meet you, and it suddenly stopped running. I stood there for over an hour while they fixed it." "You stood on the escalator for an hour while they fixed it?" the second friend asked. "Of course. What else could I do?" "You dummy! Why didn't you sit down?"

A SAILING INSTRUCTOR who had been running his students ragged asked one, "If a fellow sailor fell off the side of the ship, what would you do?" "Easy, sir," the student replied. "I'd call 'Man overboard!' and follow procedure." "And what would you do if one of your superiors fell overboard?" the instructor asked. The soaked and aching student replied, "Which one?"

~ Good Answer ~

A nursery school teacher was delivering a station wagon full of kids home one day when a fire truck zoomed past. Sitting in the front seat of the fire truck was a Dalmatian dog. The children began discussing the dog's duties. "They use him to keep crowds back," said one youngster. "No," said another, "he's just for good luck." A third child brought the argument to a close. "They use the dogs," she said firmly, "to find the fire hydrants."

TOUGH ON HIM

A cop pulls over a car and finds a young couple in the front seat. "Where's your seat belt, young man?" asks the cop. "Oh, I just took it off now when you were walking up to the car", responds the man. "No you didn't!" exclaims his wife. "You never wear your seat belt!". A little taken aback, the cop asks to see the young man's license. "Aw, shucks!" cries the man. "I must have left it home!" "Yeah, right!" screams his wife. "You know it expired 3 months ago!" At a loss for words, the cop asks the woman, "Are you always so tough on him?!" "No," responds the young woman, "only when he's had too much to drink!"

along to some of our younger people, how important this is rather than just drifting along, and finding the genius within themselves. I don't care if you are working in a hotel as a maid and making beds each day, you CAN make a difference. Do your absolute best, and when you leave that room, it looks fresh and inviting to the next person who spends the night.

That is what love is really all about – doing something so well that it makes another person feel good. And that, my friends, also makes a difference in how you feel about yourself. I don't know about you, but I want to be on the sunny side. Yup, you're right, be on the sunny side of the street – thanks, Tommy Dorsey!

That's it for this month, have a great month and think health, prosperity and happiness and they will be at your door. See you in June, God Bless,

Ken Gillette

AL-QAIDA HAS ISSUED a list of 22 ways that al-Qaida members can avoid being killed by U.S. drones. Here's a good one: Don't join al-Qaida.

After making this monumental decision, I had to go about changing...

EVERYTHING! Since I was moving into my husband's post office box, my address was changing, too. So there were the usual notices sent to magazines, friends, credit card institutions, insurance carriers, etc. But because of my name change I have to get another Social Security card, voter's registration and driver's license. I didn't mind getting a new driver's license because I hated the picture on my old one.

Furthermore, being a dentist, I have to change my name on my license to prescribe drugs and notify the Florida Board of Registration; and being an employer, I have to notify the government to change my name on my Employer Identification number. My accountant has just now gotten the IRS straightened out on a mistake they made in June 1986. I don't know if they'll be able to handle a name change.

I have boxes of stationery, postcards, personals, business cards, packets of floss and a dental degree all with the wrong name on them. Even the signs on the office front, in the parking lot and nameplate on my desk are in need of changing. The secretaries have been trying to remember to answer the phone "Hello, Drs. Glenn and Caddell. May I help you?" Then they have to explain that there isn't a new dentist in the practice just one that had a name-change.

But with all my ranting and raving, there are some advantages to the name change. Dr. Eugene Glenn and Dr. Susan Caddell can now be easily identified by patients when making appointments. And best of all, I carry the name of a very special man who has it made... because he didn't have to change HIS name! ❖

🌀 Diagnosing The Problem 🌀

A woman called her husband and said, "The car won't start. I think there's water in the carburetor." "Really?" the husband answered sarcastically. "Do you even know what a carburetor is?" "I'm positive that there's water in the carburetor, and this car isn't moving." Her husband sighed. "Where is it?" "In a swimming pool."

HEY, FOLKS! Here comes more warm weather and fun in the sun – or better yet, some relaxing in the sun. Yup, truly the lazy days are just around the corner. Hope you're ready for spring and remember Ken's Amish Market & Deli has a great new treat for a warm day – a chocolate frozen banana. Yum!

Well, let's see... I got the word from Ken the other day that we may be getting a new personality in SLDigest. He thinks we need another dog! I told him I could write funnier and better articles than two dogs. He said, "Okay, then have at it and we'll see." So here we go with the funniest stuff I could find. This is why he doesn't need a dumb dog to find jokes. I really don't like any of them but he said I had to make you laugh, so I'll swallow my pride, just this once.

TOP TEN REASONS WHY DOGS ARE BETTER PETS THAN CATS

1. Dogs will tilt their heads and try to understand every word you say. Cats will ignore you and take a nap.
2. Cats look silly on a leash.
3. When you come home from work, your dog will be happy and lick your face. Cats will still be mad at you for leaving in the first place.
4. Dogs will give you unconditional love until the day they die. Cats will make you pay for every mistake you've ever made since the day you were born.
5. A dog knows when you're sad. And he'll try to comfort you. Cats don't care how you feel, as long as you remember where the can opener is.
6. Dogs will bring you your slippers. Cats will drop a dead mouse in your slippers.
7. When you take them for a ride, dogs will sit on the seat next to you. Cats have to have their own private basket, or they won't go at all.
8. Dogs will come when you call them. And they'll be happy. Cats will have someone take a message and get back to you.
9. Dogs will play fetch with you all day long. The only thing cats will play with all day long are small rodents or bugs, preferably

THE BRAGGART

A young man at a construction site declared that he could outdo anyone in a feat of strength. After several minutes, an older worker had had enough. "Why don't you put your money where your mouth is?" he said. "I'll bet a week's wages that I can haul something in a wheelbarrow over to that building that you won't be able to wheel back." "You're on, old man," the young man replied. The older man reached out and grabbed a wheelbarrow by the handles. Then he turned to the young man and said, "All right. Get in."

❧ A 5-Iron ❧

Police are called to an apartment and find a woman holding a bloody 5-iron over an unconscious man. "Is that your husband?" the detective asks. "Yes," the woman replies. "Did you hit him with that golf club?" "Yes, yes, I did." The woman begins to sob. "How many times did you hit him?" "I don't know -- five, six, maybe seven times. Just put me down for a five."

❧ Blind Date ❧

Two people on a blind date were having a horrible time. Fortunately, the man had arranged for a friend to call so he'd have an excuse to leave. When he returned to the table, he lowered his eyes, put on a grim face and said, "I have some bad news. My grandfather just passed away." "Oh, good," the woman replied. "If yours hadn't, mine would have had to."

A ZOOKEEPER FOUND A NEW employee in front of the lion's cage, looking uneasy. "Didn't I tell you," the keeper asked, "that when a lion wags its tail, it's friendly?" "Yes," the employee said, "but he was roaring and wagging at the same time. I don't know which end to believe."

A TRUCK OVERTURNED while transporting several hundred copies of a thesaurus. The newspaper reported that onlookers were "overwhelmed, stunned, amazed, gobsmacked, astonished, bewildered and dumbfounded."

EMPLOYEE REVIEWS

- » "Since my last report, this employee has reached rock bottom and has started to dig."
- » "I would not allow this employee to breed."
- » "Works well when under constant supervision and cornered like a rat in a trap."
- » "He would be out of his depth in a parking lot puddle."
- » "This employee is depriving a village somewhere of an idiot."
- » "This employee should go far, and the sooner he starts, the better."
- » "I would like to go hunting with him sometime."
- » "He brings a lot of joy whenever he leaves the room."
- » "When his I.Q. reaches 50, he should sell."
- » "If you see two people talking and one looks bored, he's the other one."
- » "Donated his brain to science before he was done using it."
- » "If he were any more stupid, he'd have to be watered twice a week."
- » "If you gave him a penny for his thoughts, you'd get change."
- » "If you stand close enough to him, you can hear the ocean."
- » "Takes him two hours to watch 60 Minutes."
- » "The wheel is turning, but the hamster is dead."

❧ Painted Pony ❧

A cowboy strolled out of a saloon, ready to ride out of town. Then he saw that someone had painted his horse green from head to hoof. The cowboy stormed back into the saloon. "Who painted my horse green?" he demanded. "I did," said a huge, mean-looking guy, rising to his feet. "Well," the cowboy replied, "I just wanted to let you know that the first coat's dry."

❧ No Moe ❧

A census worker walked up to a woman sitting on a porch. After introducing himself, he said, "How many children do you have?" "Four," the woman answered. "May I have their names?" "Eeny, Meeny, Miny and George." "Why did you name your fourth child George?" "We didn't want any Moe."

When Is The Question

Joe was a steward for Fly High Airlines. He watched as an older lady readied to board the plane holding a dog in a kennel. "Excuse me," said Joe, "dogs are not allowed on board. You have to check it in with the baggage." The lady wasn't happy, but Joe was an experienced steward and succeeded in convincing the lady without much of a scene. Upon arrival, Joe took a peek in the kennel, and to his great surprise saw that the dog was dead! Frantic that they might get sued,

Joe quickly sent one of the airline agents to town to buy a dog that looked exactly the same. Just in the nick of time, the agent arrived with the dog. They quickly switched dogs and breathed a sigh of relief. "This isn't my dog!" said the lady as soon as she saw it. "I'm sure it is," insisted Joe. "I was very careful about where I put it." "It's not my dog," insisted the lady. "You see, I was bringing my dog to my hometown to have him buried, and this dog is alive!"

Late Night Lecture

John was the cop in a small town where everyone knew each other. One night, during his night patrol, he spotted the town drunk walking down the street looking like he was up to no good. "Hey!" said John, rolling down his window. "Your not heading for any trouble, are you?" "Nossir!" responded the drunkard with a big smile, "I'm heading to a lecture!" A lecture?! thought the cop incredulously. At 1:00 am!?! This I gotta see! After following him for a few blocks, John was surprised to see him going into his own house. "Hey!" John hollered out his window. "I thought you were heading to a lecture?!" The drunkard just held up his index finger and headed inside. Sure enough, within a minute John heard the lecture loud and clear through the upstairs window: "Just what were you doing out all this time, you nasty, good-for-nothing..."

1. The meaning of opaque is unclear.
2. I wasn't going to get a brain transplant but then I changed my mind.
3. Have you ever tried to eat a clock? It's very time consuming.
4. A man tried to assault me with milk, cream and butter. How dairy!
5. I'm reading a book about anti-gravity. I can't put it down.
6. If there was someone selling marijuana in our neighborhood, weed know about it.
7. It's a lengthy article about ancient Japanese sword fighters but I can Samurais it for you.
8. It's not that the man couldn't juggle, he just didn't have the balls to do it.
9. So what if I don't know the meaning of the word 'apocalypse?' It's not the end of the world.
10. Police were called to the daycare center. A 3-year-old was resisting a rest.
11. The other day I held the door open for a clown. I thought it was a nice jester.
12. Need an ark to save two of every animal? I Noah guy.
13. Alternative facts are aversion of the truth.
14. I used to have a fear of hurdles, but I got over it.
15. Atheism is a non-prophet organization.
16. Did you know they won't be making yardsticks any longer?
17. I used to be allergic to soap but I'm clean now.
18. The patron saint of poverty is St. Nickeless.
19. What did the man say when the bridge fell on him? The suspension is killing me.
20. What are weight loss mantras? Fat chants!

🌀 Thank You! 🌀

A teenager who had just gotten her learner's permit offered to drive her parents to church. After a hair-raising ride, they reached their destination. The mother climbed out of the car and exclaimed, "Thank you!" "Anytime," her daughter replied. "I wasn't talking to you," her mother said as she slammed the door. "I was talking to God."

🌀 Quarreling 🌀

A husband lamented to a marriage counselor, "Whenever we quarrel, my wife gets historical." "You mean hysterical," the counselor said. "No, historical!" the husband replied. "She always starts digging up the past!"

🌀 Due Date 🌀

A man who was late paying his bills received another past-due notice: "Your account has been on our books for over a year. We just wanted to remind you that we have now carried you longer than your mother did."

Ol' Rancher John

Ol' Rancher John farmed a small ranch in Montana. The Montana Wage and Hour Department claimed he was not paying proper wages to his workers and sent an agent out to interview him. "I need a list of your employees and how much you pay them," demanded the agent. "Well," replied ol' John, "there's my ranch hand who's been with me for three years. I pay him $600 a week plus free room and board. The cook has been here for 18 months, and I pay her $500 a week plus free room and board. Then there's the half-wit who works about 18 hours every day and does about 90% of all the work around here. He makes about $10 per week, pays his own room and board and I buy him a bottle of bourbon every Saturday night." "That's the guy I want to talk to, the half-wit," says the agent. "That would be me," replied Ol' Rancher John.

Guaranteed

A logging foreman sold a farmer a chain saw that he guaranteed would cut down 15 trees in one day. A week later, the unhappy farmer came back to report that the saw must have been faulty; it averaged only three trees a day. Curious, the foreman took the saw, pulled the cord and listened as it started. "Hey!" the startled farmer yelled. "What's that noise?"

Driving Lesson

An insurance claims agent was teaching his teenage son to drive when the car's brakes suddenly failed on a steep downhill grade. "I can't stop!" the teen exclaimed. "What do I do?" "Brace yourself," his father shouted, "and try to hit something cheap!"

MY DOG USED TO CHASE anyone passing on a bicycle. It finally got so bad that we had to take his bike away.

LOOKING CONFUSED, a boy asked his father, "Daddy, are you still growing?" "I don't believe so," the father replied. "Why?" "Because the top of your head is poking up through your hair."

PRIZE DONKEY

Sid was traveling down a country road in his native Yorkshire, England when he saw a crowd of people gathering outside a farmhouse. It was a cold November afternoon, so he stopped and asked Farmer Ellis why such a large crowd of men was gathered there. The farmer replied, "Joe's donkey kicked his mother-in-law and she died." "Well," replied Sid, "she must have had a lot of friends." "Nope," said Farmer Ellis. "We all just want to buy his donkey."

Outdoorsman

A doctor asked his patient about his activity level and how he spent a typical day. "Well, Doctor," the patient said, "yesterday I took a five-hour walk through four miles of rough terrain. I waded along the edge of a lake, got sand in my shoes, climbed rocky hills and nearly stepped on a snake." "You must be a heck of an outdoorsman." "No. Just a heck of a bad golfer."

Make Your Own Bed

A man checked into a rundown motel. "The room is $18 a night," the manager said. "It's $8 if you make your own bed." "I can do that," the man said. "Great. I'll get you some nails and wood."

IT'S REPORTED THE TEMPERATURE hit 112°F in Beverly Hills yesterday. That's dangerous. Many residents of Beverly Hills are made of materials that melt at temperatures like that.

❧ The Lord Will Provide ❧

Sam was the owner of a worldwide chain of stores and a multi-millionaire. When his daughter Sandy got engaged to a very religious young man, he called the future groom into his office. "So tell me," said Sam, sitting the young man down. "What are your plans for the future?" "Well," said the earnest groom, "I plan on studying holy works all of my life." "And how exactly do you plan on supporting my daughter if you're studying all day?" questioned Sam. "I'm sure The Lord will provide," answered the young man. "And what about your kids? How do you plan on supporting them?" "The Lord will provide," answered the young man again. "How did it go?" asked Sam's wife after they finished talking. "It went great," Sam replied. "I've just met the young fellow and already he thinks I'm the Lord!"

❧ Harry's Treatment ❧

Harry had been feeling sick lately and was finally convinced to see the doctor at his wife Suzy's urging. After a thorough examination and much thought, the doctor told Harry and a worried Suzy his prognosis: Harry was too stressed out. He would need six months of pure relaxation. Suzy, very agitated, took out her notepad to begin writing down his list of orders for these months of relaxation. "How should I go about it?" asked Harry. "Well," said the doctor, "I'd like your wife to take one tranquilizer four times a day..."

❧ At The Mall ❧

Two shoppers parked at the mall, got out of their car, and realized they'd locked it with the keys inside. "We'll have to break a window to get them out," one said to the other. "No," the other replied. "Maybe we can get a wire hanger and use it to unlock the door." "That never works." "Well, we'd better think of something. It's starting to rain, and the top is down!

☞ Mom's Fur Coat ☞

Anne went away to college and promptly became an avid animal rights activist. When she came home for the holidays, she noticed her mother wearing a beautiful genuine fur coat. "Oh, Mom," Anne exclaimed in a disapproving tone, "some animal must have suffered terribly just so you could get a fur coat." "Anne!" screamed her mother, aghast. "I send you away to college and you come back talking like that?! How dare you talk that way about your father!"

☞ Bedtime Prayer ☞

A couple allowed their 6-year-old daughter to fall asleep with the radio on each night, to provide background noise. About a week later, they listened in on the end of her bedtime prayer: "And God bless Mommy and Daddy and my sister. Amen. And FM."

☞ I'm Clean ☞

At a campaign rally, an embattled politician running for re-election declared, "Despite what the ethics committee concluded, my conscience is clean." "I bet," came a voice from the audience. "That's because you've never used it."

A DEPARTING HOTEL GUEST paying his bill yelled to the bellboy, "Quick, run upstairs and see if I left my briefcase and overcoat. I've got to catch my train. Hurry!" Four minutes later, the bellboy was back, out of breath. "Yes, sir," he reported, "they're up there."

A PRIEST AND A RABBI were eating together when the priest started to tease the rabbi. "Wow, this ham is really good!" he said, licking his lips. "I know it's against your religion, but when are you going to break down and finally have some?" After a moment's thought the rabbi responded with a smile, "At your wedding!"

FARMER GEORGE'S KIDS

George the Farmer had so many children that he ran out of names. So he started calling his kids after things around his farm. It was the first day of school and the teacher was asking each child their name. When he got to one of Farmer George's sons, the boy replied, "Wagon Wheel." The teacher said, "I need your real name, boy." To which the lad replied, "It's Wagon Wheel, sir... really." The teacher, rather annoyed, rejoined, "All right, young man, take yourself right down to the principal's office this minute." The youngster pushed himself out of his chair, turned to his sister and said, 'C'mon, Chicken Feed, he ain't gonna believe you, either.'

~ Inebriated And Confused ~

A drunk man phoned the local police department to report that thieves had been in his car. "They have stolen the dashboard, the steering wheel, the brake pedal, even the accelerator," he cried out.

However, before the police investigation could start, the phone rang a second time, and the same voice came over the line. "Never mind," the drunk said with a hiccup. "I got in the back seat by mistake."

~ Never Felt Better ~

In a court in Tralee, deep in County Kerry, Ireland, this conversation is reported to have taken place: Lawyer: "At the scene of the accident, Mr O'Brien, did you tell the Garda officer that you had never felt better in your life?" O'Brien the old farmer: "That's right, sir." Lawyer: "Well, then, Mr O'Brien, how is it that you are now claiming you were seriously injured when my client's car hit your cart?" O'Brien the farmer: "When the Garda arrived, he went over to my horse, who had a broken leg, and shot him. Then he went over to Darcy, my dog, who was badly hurt, and shot him. When he asked me how I felt, I just thought under the circumstances, it was a wise choice of words to say I'd never felt better in my life."

A PHOTOGRAPHER taking a family photo told the teenager, "It will look more natural if you have your hand on your father's shoulder." "It would look even more natural," the father grumped, "if he had it in my pocket."

~ Tough Persuasion ~

A man charged with murder bribed a friend on the jury to hold out for a manslaughter verdict. The jury was out for a long time, but at last brought in the desired result. During a visit in prison the next week, the man thanked his friend. "You must've had a tough time getting them to vote for manslaughter," he said. "Tough is right," the friend replied. "The other eleven wanted to acquit you."

Jealousy Strategy

Standing in front of a boutique I noticed an impatient looking young man approach an attractive woman. "Would you mind talking to me for a few minutes?" he asked her. "Why?" she countered suspiciously. "My wife has been in this shop for a long time," the man explained, "but I know she'll come out if she see me talking to you."

Spring Fever

Four high school boys afflicted with spring fever skipped morning classes. The next day they reported to their teacher that they'd had a flat tire. Much to their relief, she smiled and said, "Well, you missed a test yesterday so take seats apart from one another and take out a piece of paper." Still smiling, she waited for them to sit down. Then she said: "First Question: Which tire was flat?"

Lifetime Warranty

An irate driver went back to the garage where he had bought an expensive car battery six months prior. He said to the garage owner, "When you sold me this battery, you told me it would be the last one my car would ever need. It's already dead!" "Yeah, sorry about that," the garage owner replied. "I didn't think your car would make it this long."

"The difficult thing about quotes on the internet is verifying them."

—Abraham Lincoln

As the school year draws to a close, w

AS SHE STOOD IN FRONT OF her 5th grade class on the very first day of school, she told the children an untruth. Like most teachers, she looked at her students and said that she loved them all the same. However, that was impossible, because there in the front row, slumped in his seat, was a boy named Teddy Stoddard.

Mrs. Thompson had watched Teddy the year before and noticed that he didn't play well with the other children, that his clothes were messy and that he constantly needed a bath. In addition, Teddy could be unpleasant. It got to the point where Mrs. Thompson would actually take delight in marking his papers with a broad red pen, making bold X's and then putting a big "F" at the top of his papers.

The school where Mrs. Thompson taught required her to review each child's past records, and she decided to put Teddy's off until last. However, when she did, she found she was in for a surprise. Teddy's first grade teacher wrote, "Teddy is a bright child with a ready laugh. He does his work neatly and has good manners... he is a joy to be around." His second grade teacher wrote, "Teddy is an excellent student, well liked by his classmates, but he is troubled because his mother has a terminal illness. I'm sure life at home must be a struggle."

His third grade teacher wrote, "Teddy's mother's death has been hard on him. He tries to do his best, but his father doesn't show much interest, and his home life will soon affect him if some steps aren't taken." Teddy's fourth grade teacher wrote, "Teddy is withdrawn and doesn't show much interest in school. He doesn't have many friends and he sometimes sleeps in class." By now, Mrs. Thompson realized the problem and she was ashamed of herself.

She felt even worse when her students brought her Christmas presents, wrapped in beautiful ribbons and bright paper, except for Teddy's. His present was clumsily wrapped in the heavy, brown paper that he got from a grocery bag.

When Teaching Makes a Difference

honor all teachers who give so selflessly to our nation's children.

Mrs. Thompson took pains to open it in the middle of the other presents. Some of the children started to laugh when she found a rhinestone bracelet with some of the stones missing, and a bottle that was one-quarter full of perfume. But she stifled the children's laughter when she exclaimed how pretty the bracelet was, putting it on, and dabbing some of the perfume on her wrist. Teddy stayed after school that day just long enough to say, "Mrs. Thompson, today you smelled just like my mom used to." After the children were gone, she cried for at least an hour.

That day, she quit teaching reading, writing and arithmetic. Instead, she began to teach children, Teddy in particular. As she worked with him, his mind seemed to come alive. The more she encouraged him, the faster he responded.

By the end of the year, Teddy had become one of the smartest children in the class and, despite her lie that she would love all the children the same, Teddy became her "teacher's pet."

A year later, she found a note under her door from Teddy, telling her that she was the best teacher he'd ever had in his whole life. Six years went by before she got another note from Teddy, telling her he had finished high school, third in his class, and she was still the best teacher he ever had in life.

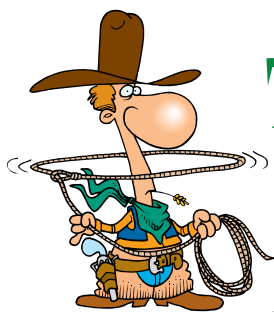

Four years after that, she got another letter, saying that while things had been tough at times, he'd stayed in school, had stuck with it, and would soon graduate from college with the highest of honors. He assured Mrs. Thompson that she was still the best and favorite teacher he had ever had in his whole life.

Then four more years passed and yet another letter came. This time he explained that after he got his bachelor's degree, he decided to go a little further. The letter explained that she was still the best and favorite teacher he ever had. But now his name was a little longer. The letter was signed, "Theodore F. Stoddard, M.D."

The story doesn't end there. There was yet another letter that spring. Teddy said he had met this girl and they were going to be married. He explained that his father had died a couple of years past so he was wondering if Mrs. Thompson might agree to sit at the wedding in the place that was usually reserved for the mother of the groom. Of course, Mrs. Thompson did.

And guess what? She wore that bracelet, the one with several rhinestones missing. Moreover, she made sure she was wearing the perfume that Teddy remembered his mother wearing on their last Christmas together. As they hugged each other, Dr. Stoddard whispered in Mrs. Thompson's ear, "Thank you, Mrs. Thompson, for believing in me. Thank you so much for making me feel important and showing me that I could make a difference."

Mrs. Thompson, with tears in her eyes, whispered back, "Teddy, you have it all wrong. You were the one who taught me that I could make a difference. I didn't know how to teach until I met you." ❖

Three Tough Cowboys

Three cowboys from around the world are sitting around a campfire talking about how tough they are, and the tales keep getting bigger and taller. The cowboy from Australia says, "I wrestled a 200-pound crocodile and made it cry like a baby." The cowboy from Brazil shakes his head and says, "I killed a 400-pound steer with my bare hands." The cowboy from Montana just grins at the other two and keeps stirring the campfire with his leg.

~ The Hangin' ~

Back in the Old West, three Texas cowboys were about to be hung for cattle rustling. The lynch mob brought the three men to a tree right at the edge of the Rio Grande. The idea was that when each man had died, they'd cut the rope, he'd drop into the river and drift out of sight. They put the first cowboy in the noose, but he was so sweaty and greasy he slipped through, fell in the river and swam to freedom. They tied the noose around the second cowboy's head. He, too, oozed out of the rope, dropped into the river and got away. As they dragged the third Texan to the scaffold, he resisted: "Please! Would y'all tighten that noose a bit? I can't swim!"

A WOMAN ASKED her husband, "Could you please go out and buy a gallon of milk? And if they have avocados, get six." A short time later, the husband returned with six gallons of milk. "Why did you buy so many?" his wife asked. "They had avocados," he replied.

Old Apache Tracker

Two cowboys riding the range come upon an old Apache lying on his stomach with his ear to the ground. One of the cowboys stops and says to the other, "You see that Indian?" "Yeah," says the other cowboy. "Look," says the first one, "he's listening to the ground. He can hear things for miles in any direction." Just then, the old Apache speaks. "Covered wagon," he says, "about two miles away. Have two horses, one brown, one white. Man, woman, child, household items in wagon." "Incredible!" says the cowboy to his friend. "This old Apache knows how far away they are, how many horses, what color they are, who is in the wagon, and even what is in the wagon. Amazing!" The old Apache looks up and says, "Ran over me about a half hour ago."

WELL, A BIG SOUTHERN HELLO as we head into the warm weather. Don't know about you folks up north, but we had a cool winter. Some cold days, but a lot we would just call cool – and really cool, depending on how Southern you are and whether you have some Yankee blood. ## Age Zinger

A young boy told his father, “Today is Abraham Lincoln’s birthday. He was great, wasn’t he?” “Indeed he was,” his father replied. “When he was your age, he was out splitting rails.” “Yep. And when he was your age, he was president of the United States!”

Not In My Job Description

Helmsman In Training

A young man who wants to see the world signs on to a steamship to be trained as a helmsman. He masters the classroom instruction, then starts his practical training on the wheel of the vessel. In his first lesson, the mate gives him a heading, and the young fellow holds to it. Then the mate orders, "Come starboard." Pleased at knowing immediately which way starboard is, the young man leaves the helm and walks over to his instructor. The mate has an incredulous look on his face as the helm swings freely. Then, rather gently considering the circumstance, the mate politely asks, "Could you bring the ship with you?"

First Apartment

Having moved into his first apartment, our son invited my husband and I for a visit. As we walked in, our son asked if we'd like a cold drink. Mentally patting myself on the back for teaching him to be such a gracious host, I said, "Yes, what do you have?" He walked over to the refrigerator, opened the door, studied the contents, and then replied, "I have pickle juice or water."

Gender Bender

During inspection, a female officer asked our very nervous corporal what his first general order was. "Sir, this cadet's first general order is to take charge of this post and all government property in view, sir!" His response was excellent, except for one detail. "Do I look like a ma'am or a sir?" the officer demanded. The startled corporal bellowed, "Sir, you're a ma'am, sir!"

The Afghani Quarterback

PEOPLE ALWAYS CALLED MY uncle crazy because he wore one red and one blue sock – rather than trousers and a shirt.

The coach had put together the perfect team for the Detroit Lions; the only thing missing was a good quarterback. He had scouted all the colleges and even the Canadian and European Leagues, but he couldn't find a ringer who could ensure a Super Bowl win. Then one night while watching CNN he saw a war-zone scene in Afghanistan. In one corner of the background, he spotted a young Afghan soldier with a truly incredible arm. He threw a hand grenade straight into a 15th story window 100 yards away. KABOOM! He threw another hand grenade 75 yards away, right into a chimney. KA-BLOOEY! Then he threw another at a passing car going 90 mph. BULLS-EYE! "I've got to get this guy!" coach said to himself. "He has the perfect arm!" So, he finds the young soldier, brings him to the States and teaches him the great game of football. And the Lions go on to win the Super Bowl. The young Afghan is hailed as the great hero of football, and when the coach asks him what he wants, all the young man wants is to call his mother. "Mom," he says into the phone, "I just won the Super Bowl!" "I don't want to talk to you," the old woman says. "You are not my son!" "I don't think you understand, Mother," the young man pleads. "I've won the greatest sporting event in the world. I'm here among thousands of my adoring fans." "No! Let me tell you!" his mother retorts. "At this very moment, there are gunshots all around us. The neighborhood is a pile of rubble. Your two brothers were beaten within an inch of their lives last week, and I have to keep your sister in the house so she doesn't get raped!" The old lady pauses, and then tearfully says, "I will never forgive you for making us move to Detroit!"

Trip To Rome

A woman was getting a haircut prior to her trip to Rome. She mentioned the trip to the hairdresser who responded, "Rome? Why would anyone want to go there? It's crowded, dirty and full of Italians. You're crazy to go to Rome. So, how are you getting there?" "We're flying Delta," replied the woman. "We got a great rate!" "Delta?" exclaimed the hairdresser. "That's a terrible airline. Their planes are old, their flight attendants are ugly, and they're always late. So, where are you staying in Rome?" "We'll be at the downtown International Marriott." "That dump! That's the worst hotel in the city. The rooms are small, the service is slow and they're overpriced. So, whatcha doing when you get there?" "We're going to go to see the Vatican and we hope to see the Pope." "That's rich," laughed the hairdresser. "You and a million other people trying to see him. He'll look the size of an ant. Boy, good luck on this lousy trip of yours. You're going to need it." A month later, the woman again came in for her regular haircut. The hairdresser asked her about her trip to Rome. "It was wonderful!" explained the woman. "Not only were we on time in one of Delta's brand new planes, but it was overbooked and they bumped us up to first class. The food and wine were wonderful, and I had a gorgeous 28-year-old steward who waited on me hand and foot. And the hotel was fabulous! They'd just finished a $25 million remodeling job and now it's the finest hotel in the city. They, too, were overbooked, so they apologized and gave us the presidential suite at no extra charge!" "Well," muttered the hairdresser, "I know you didn't get to see the Pope." "Actually, we were quite lucky, for as we toured the Vatican, a Swiss Guard tapped me on the shoulder and explained that the Pope likes to personally meet some of the visitors, and if I'd be so kind as to step into his private room and wait, the Pope would personally greet me. Sure enough, five minutes later the Pope walked through the door and shook my hand! I knelt down as he spoke a few words to me." "Really?" asked the hairdresser. "What'd he say?" "He said, 'Where'd you get the terrible haircut?'"

~ Daisy ~

A man sits quietly reading his paper one Sunday morning when suddenly he's knocked almost senseless by his wife, who stands behind him holding a frying pan in hand. "What was that for?" he cries. "Why do you have a piece of paper in your pocket with 'Daisy' written on it?" she says. "Oh, honey, don't you remember two weeks ago when I went to the horse races? Daisy was the name of the horse I bet on." His wife is satisfied, and apologizes for bonking him. Three days later, he's again sitting reading the paper, when once again he's bonked on the head. "What is it this time?" he asks. His wife replies, "Your horse called."

"May I ask who is calling?" "Sure. This is my father!"

SLOWPOKES!

Tom's wife was hosting a dinner party for some of her close friends at their summer home. Moments before the guests were scheduled to arrive, she asked Tom if he would be ever so gracious to walk a block down to the beach to pick up some fresh snails for the party. On his way to the beach, he passed the local bar, and figured he'd stop in for a quick drink before heading down to the beach to search for the snails. One drink lead to the next, and before he knew it, it was 5:00 in the morning and he hadn't gotten his wife those snails. Quickly he hurried down to the beach, picked up a few snails, rushed home, and stumbled up the front steps, dropping the snails. At that moment, his wife angrily yanked open the door to ask where he had been and tell him how he had ruined her party. Tom looked down at the snails and said, "C'mon you slow pokes! Just a few more steps and we're there!"

Walking On Water

Fred's father, grandfather and great-grandfather had all been able to walk on water to the bar across the lake for their first legal drinks. So when Fred's 21st birthday came around, he rowed out to the middle of the lake, stepped out of the boat, and nearly drowned. Fred climbed back into the boat and went to see his grandmother. "Grandma," he asked, "it's my 21st birthday, so why can't I walk across the lake like my father, his father, and his father before him?" Grandma looked kindly into Fred's eyes and said, "Because, dear boy, they were all born in January, and you were born in August."

Lost In Translation

One Sunday, after church, a mother asked her little daughter what the Sunday school lesson had been about that day. The little girl answered, "Don't be scared, you'll get your quilts." Needless to say, her mother was perplexed. Later that afternoon, the pastor stopped by for a visit. The mother asked him what that morning's Sunday school lesson had been. He replied, "Be not afraid, thy Comforter is coming."

Negotiation

A small boy was looking at the red ripe tomatoes growing in the farmer's garden. "I'll give you my two pennies for that tomato," said the boy pointing to a beautiful, large, ripe fruit hanging on the vine. "No," said the farmer, "I get a dime for a tomato like that one." The small boy pointed to a smaller green one. "Will you take two pennies for that one?" "Yes," replied the farmer, "I'll give you that one for two cents." "Okay," said the lad, sealing the deal by putting the coins in the farmer's hand, "I'll pick it up in about a week."

What Will You Be?

An older psychiatrist had had a patient under analysis for some time. Finally the day came when he felt the patient was ready to go back to normal life. "Now that we've cleared up your troubles," said the old psychiatrist, "what do you plan to do?" "Well," said the ex-patient, "I've passed my bar examinations, so I may try to work up a law practice. Then again, I took a lot of drama in college, so I might try acting." He paused and thought for a moment. "Then, on the other hand," he continued, "I may be a teakettle."

🌀 Loyal Secretary 🌀

Bernice had been employed at the same office for over 50 years and was the boss's top secretary. Everyone was jealous of her. Every day when Bernice showed up for work she would open the drawer to her left, peek inside, and then lock it. When she finally died, her coworker Sandy, who was dying of curiosity, made it her mission to figure out what was in that drawer. After days of searching she finally found the key. Sweating with excitement she slowly opened up the drawer. Inside was a folded piece of paper. Slowly she reached inside and took it out, while cautiously looking over her shoulder. After a few seconds of trepidation she opened it up. On it was written, "Put only one spoonful of sugar in the boss's coffee."

🌀 The Real Boss 🌀

The boss of our small company was complaining during a staff meeting that people didn't respect him enough. Trying to change the attitude in the office, he came in the next day with a sign for his door that said, "I Am the Boss." One of the employees, apparently not appreciating the change, posted a post-a-note on the sign that said, "Your wife wants her sign back."

Hide-And-Go-Seek

The boss of a large corporation needed to call one of his employees about an urgent problem after hours. He dialed the employee's home phone number and was greeted with a child's whispered, "Hello?" on the first ring. Feeling put out at the inconvenience of having to talk to a youngster, the boss asked, "Is your Daddy home?" "Yes," whispered the small voice. "May I talk with him?" the man asked. To his surprise, the small voice whispered, "No." Wanting to talk with an adult, the boss asked, "Is your Mommy there?" "Yes," came the answer. "May I talk with her?" Again the small voice whispered, "No." Knowing that it was not likely that a young child would be left home alone, the boss decided he would just leave a message with the person who should be watching over the child. "Is there anyone there besides you?" the boss asked the child. "Yes," whispered the child, "A policeman." Wondering what a cop would be doing at his employee's home, the boss asked, "May I speak with the policeman?" "No, he's busy," whispered the child. "Busy doing what?" asked the boss. "Talking to Daddy and Mommy and the fireman," came the whispered answer. Growing concerned as he heard what sounded like a helicopter through the earpiece on the phone, the boss asked, "What is that noise?" "A hello-copper," answered the whispering voice. "What is going on there?" asked the boss, now alarmed. In an awed whispering voice the child answered, "The search team just landed the hello-copper!" Alarmed, concerned and more than just a little frustrated, the boss asked, "Why are they there?" Still whispering, the young voice replied with a muffled giggle, "They're looking for me!"

🌀 David's Fiancé 🌀

So David is finally engaged, and is excited to show off his new bride. "Ma," he says to his mother, "I'm going to bring home three girls and I want you to guess which one is my fiancé." Sure enough, twenty minutes later David walks in the door with three girls following behind him. "It's that one," says his mother, without so much as blinking an eye. "Holy cow!" exclaims David. "How in the world did you know it was her?" "I just don't like her," his mother replies.

Entrance Into Heaven

Three men—a doctor, an accountant and a lawyer – have died and they appear in front of St. Peter. St. Peter tells them that they have to answer one question in order to get into Heaven. He looks at the doctor and asks, “There was a movie that was made about a ship that sank after hitting an iceberg; what was its title?” The doctor answers, “The Titanic,” and he is sent through. St. Peter then looks at the accountant and says, “How many people died in that ship?” Fortunately the accountant had just watched the movie so he answers, “1,500!” St. Peter sends him through. Finally he turns to the lawyer and commands, in a very heavy voice, “Name them!”

THREE FIREMEN

Three firefighter went out on a hunting trip – a rookie, a captain, and a chief. The weather was miserable and they hadn't seen any deer all day. Finally they came across an old shack where they went inside to play a game of poker. After losing a couple hands, the rookie threw down his cards and said, “That does it! I'm going out to get me a deer.” Fifteen minutes later, the rookie came back with a nice four-point buck. The captain and the chief asked, “How did you get that?” The rookie replied, “I walked out fifty feet, followed some tracks and shot this buck.” The captain said, “I've had enough of this! I'm going to get my deer.” He came back a half hour later with a six-point buck. The chief asked, “How did you get that?” The captain replied, “I walked out a hundred feet, followed some tracks and shot this buck.” The chief, not wanting to be outdone, said, “I'm outta here! I'm going to bag the biggest buck of the day.” He came back an hour later, all mangled up and bloody. The rookie and the captain asked, “What happened to you?” The chief replied, “I walked out five hundred feet, followed some tracks, and got hit by a TRAIN!”

I dream things that never were, and ask why not.”*

—Robert Kennedy

TAKING HIS SEAT IN HIS CHAMBERS, the judge faced the opposing lawyers. “So,” he said, “I have been presented, by both of you, with a bribe.” Both lawyers squirmed uncomfortably. “You, Attorney Leon, gave me $15,000. And you, Attorney Campos, gave me $10,000.” The judge reached into his pocket and pulled out a check. He handed it to Leon, saying, “Now then, I'm returning $5,000, and we're going to decide this case solely on its merits.”

Change For A Dollar

A Lieutenant with the fire department needed to use the pay phone, but didn't have change for a dollar. He saw a probationary firefighter mopping the floors, and asked him, “Hey, rookie, do you have change for a dollar?” The firefighter replied, “Sure.” The Lieutenant gave him an icy stare. He said, “That's no way to address a superior officer! Now, let's try it again. Firefighter, do you have change for a dollar?” The young firefighter replied, “Well, in that case – NO, SIR!” and continued mopping.

Being Politically Correct About Women

- She is not a “dumb blonde;” she is a “Light-Haired Detour Off The Information Superhighway.”
- She is not an “airhead;” she is “Reality Impaired.”
- She does not get “drunk” or “tipsy;” she Gets “Chemically Inconvenienced”
- She does not “nag” you; she becomes “Verbally Repetitive.”

OVERHEARD – “Joshua, will you put down that blasted trumpet and fight like the rest of us!”

Mirror, Mirror

There’s this bar, and in the bar there is a magic mirror. If you say an untruth it will suck you in. One day a brunette walks into the bar. She approaches the mirror and says, “I think I’m the most beautiful woman in the world!” The mirror sucks her in. The next day, a redhead walks into the bar. She approaches the mirror and says, “I think I’m the most beautiful woman in the world!” And the mirror sucks her in too. The next day, a blonde walks into the bar. She approaches the mirror and says “I think...” and it sucks her in.

Being Politically Correct About Men

- He does not have a “beer gut;” he has developed a “Liquid Grain Storage Facility.”
- He does not “get lost all the time;” he “Investigates Alternative Destinations.”
- He is not “balding;” he is in “Follicle Regression.”
- He does not get “falling-down drunk;” he becomes “Accidentally Horizontal.”
- He is not a “male chauvinist pig;” he has “Swine Empathy.”
- He is not “afraid of commitment;” he is “Relationship Challenged.”

All About Easter

Three blonde friends die together in a car wreck. They find themselves standing in front of the Pearly Gates with St. Peter. He warns them that before they can enter Heaven, they have to tell him what Easter is about. The first blonde says, “Easter is a holiday where we give thanks, have a big feast and eat turkey.” “Nooooo,” groans St. Peter. “You don’t get in.” The second blonde says, “Easter is the holiday where we decorate a tree with pretty ornaments and give each other presents.” “Nooooo,” groans St. Peter. “You don’t get in, either.” The third blonde says, “Well, I know what Easter is all about. Easter is a Christian holiday which coincides with the Jewish Passover. After Jesus celebrated Passover with His disciples, He was betrayed by Judas and turned over to the Romans. They crucified Him on a cross. After He died, they buried him in a tomb and put a huge boulder in front of it.” “Very good!” says St. Peter. But the blonde continues. “Now, every year, the Jews roll the stone away and Jesus comes out. If He sees his shadow, we have six more weeks of winter!”

Frankly

Then there was the retired guy who pleaded with his doctor, “If there’s anything wrong with me, don’t frighten me by giving it a scientific name. Just tell me what’s wrong in plain English.” “Well, to be frank,” said the physician, “you’re just plain lazy.” “Thanks,” sighed the old guy. “Now give me a scientific name for it, so I can go home and tell my wife.”
